November 10, 2016

I am resigning my seat on the Traverse City Commission, along with my seats on any appointed public boards which derive from my position on the City Commission, effective immediately.

As the reorganizational meeting for the coming year will be held on Monday evening (November 14), I felt it better to depart before the beginning of the coming term. Ann and I will be leaving Traverse City, as family obligations in Illinois, both personal and business, are paramount in this decision.

We will miss our neighbors and our many social and political friends we have come to know during our 16 years in this wonderful small town. I thank the citizens for electing me to two terms on the Grand Traverse County Commission and to the current term of the City Commission.

While this is a very difficult decision, it is one that I must make for the good of my family.
