General Summary of Improvements

1. Pickleball and Tennis Courts:

- The pickleball courts at the dog park are a significant concern due to their poor condition. They are heavily used by locals and visitors but have deep cracks, uneven surfaces, and are unsafe, posing a risk of injuries. Multiple respondents have emphasized the urgent need for resurfacing or a complete overhaul of these courts.
- There is also a request to convert tennis courts at the dog park into additional pickleball courts to address the growing demand for this popular sport.

2. Maintenance and Upkeep:

- General maintenance of parks is a recurring theme. Respondents have expressed dissatisfaction with the weeding of gardens, the cleanliness of parks, and the need for better trash management. They have highlighted the importance of more frequent garbage collection, especially during peak seasons.
- Some parks, like Hannah Park and Clinch Park, need to address erosion and wooden structures that are deteriorating. Improved signage for wayfinding and interpretation is also frequently requested, particularly in areas like Brown Bridge and East Bay Park.

3. Playground and Recreational Spaces:

- Several respondents have mentioned the need for updated playground equipment, with some specific parks like Ashton Park and Sunset Park cited for needing new facilities. More picnic tables and seating areas for families and larger gatherings are requested.
- The addition of indoor and outdoor play spaces, as well as public restrooms, is suggested for several parks, such as Bryant Park and East Bay Park.

4. Trees, Greenery, and Natural Spaces:

- The expansion of native species and the planting of more trees to replace dead or declining trees in various parks is emphasized. Some parks, like Jupiter Park and Hull Park, are seen as lacking adequate green spaces. There is also a desire to preserve and maintain natural shorelines in parks like Hannah Park.
- Shoreline stabilization and erosion control are critical to ensuring the safety and longevity of beach areas.

5. Bike and Pedestrian Access:

- Safe bike/pedestrian routes to and within parks are highlighted as a key area for improvement. This includes adding sidewalks, crosswalks, and traffic lights, particularly near Garfield Road and Bryant Park.
- Requests for more bike racks and better bike trail connections are frequent, as many parks like Bryant and East Bay could benefit from enhanced accessibility for cyclists.

Improvements Related to Safely Accessing Parks

1. Pedestrian Safety:

- Many respondents have emphasized the need for protected walkways and crosswalks, particularly at busy intersections near parks like Bryant Park and Hannah Park. To further enhance pedestrian safety, there is also a strong call for the installation of bumpout crossings at key crossing points, such as near Central Grade School. These improvements would help slow traffic and provide safer, more accessible crossings for park visitors.
- Signage improvements were frequently mentioned to better direct pedestrians to park entrances and important features like boat launches (e.g., at Boardman Lake). This would ensure clear navigation for new and returning park users and contribute to safer and more intuitive access to the parks.

2. Lighting and Visibility:

- Enhanced lighting in parks is a common suggestion to improve safety, especially in areas like Hickory Hills and Bryant Park, which are popular for evening activities.
 Improved lighting would make parks more accessible and inviting, particularly during the darker winter months. Additionally, there is a need for lighting around recreational areas, such as the dog park and pickleball courts, to ensure safe use of these spaces yearround.
- Effective lighting plays a crucial role in increasing visibility, particularly in high-traffic areas and those used after dark.

3. Public Transit and Parking:

- Parking congestion is a frequent concern, especially at parks like Bryant Park, where the current parking lot design is no longer sufficient to accommodate the growing number of visitors. Respondents have suggested that redesigning and repairing parking areas would help alleviate these issues and improve the overall experience for park-goers.
- Additionally, improved bike racks and alternative transportation options like public transit or shuttle services could provide more accessible solutions for visitors.
 Restructuring parking to reduce congestion, particularly near popular spots like the dog park and Civic Center, would also help improve traffic flow and the overall park experience.

4. Water Access:

 Improving access to water-based activities is a key priority for many parks, including East Bay Park and Sunset Park. Suggested improvements include the addition of beach access steps, shoreline restoration, and the construction of retaining walls to combat erosion. These measures would make the parks more accessible to individuals with mobility challenges and provide safer, more stable pathways to the water.

- There is also a call for better kayak launch areas and clearer signage to guide visitors to water access points. Enhancing these features would ensure that water activities, including swimming, kayaking, and paddleboarding, are more accessible to everyone, regardless of physical ability.
- Retaining walls, landscape leveling, and water access steps are proposed solutions to provide safer and more manageable access to beaches and waterfront areas, ensuring that all park visitors can enjoy the water without the risk of injury.

Conclusion

The general consensus among respondents is that while Traverse City's parks are well-loved, there is a clear need for focused attention on maintenance, accessibility, and safety. Key improvements revolve around enhancing pickleball facilities, addressing natural resource management, updating playground equipment, and ensuring safe access through improved bike lanes, pedestrian paths, and parking. These changes would not only make parks more inviting and accessible but also enhance the overall safety of users.

Summary of City Resident Respondents Only

1. General Improvements to Parks:

- Many respondents recommend more playgrounds for children and accessible playgrounds, particularly at Hull Park.
- There is a call for better maintenance across all parks, including weeding the gardens, removing concrete rubble, and ensuring regular trash removal, especially during the busy tourist season.
- Tree planting to replace dead or dying trees is often suggested, as well as maintaining existing urban forests and increasing native plantings to attract wildlife and improve park aesthetics.
- Requests for improved signage across parks, especially for wayfinding and interpretation, were frequent, including updates to the City's Park Locator Map.

2. Pickleball Court Improvements:

- Pickleball courts at the Dog Park (Slabtown) are repeatedly mentioned as in urgent need of repair. Many respondents emphasize resurfacing the courts due to large cracks, uneven surfaces, and safety concerns. These courts are highly popular and used by hundreds of people daily, including seniors and tourists.
- Suggestions for more pickleball courts and converting some underused tennis courts into additional pickleball courts were made. Resurfacing and improving parking around the Dog Park pickleball area are priorities for many users.

3. Improving Beach Access:

- Beach access issues are mentioned across various parks, including Bryant Park, Sunset Park, and Clinch Park. Some suggest adding retaining walls to combat erosion and improving access points to make these areas safer and more accessible, particularly for individuals with mobility challenges.
- Beach erosion is a concern at several parks, and respondents suggest implementing vegetation planting, landscaping, and shoreline restoration to stabilize the coastline and reduce sand blowing into parks.

4. Playground Equipment and Recreational Spaces:

- There is a strong desire for updated playground equipment, especially in neighborhoods like Central, Sunset, and Hickory Hills. Several parks like Ashton Park are highlighted for needing modern and accessible play structures.
- Requests for indoor and outdoor recreation spaces continue to grow, with gym facilities for year-round activities (e.g., volleyball and basketball) being a top priority.

5. Pedestrian and Bike Access:

Improved bike and pedestrian access to parks is a common theme. Respondents specifically mention sidewalks, protected bike lanes, crosswalks, and traffic lights to improve safety when walking or cycling to parks, particularly for areas like Bryant Park and East Bay Park.

 Several suggestions include creating non-motorized transportation corridors for better connectivity between parks, residential areas, and key destinations, as well as installing more bike racks in park locations.

6. Park Accessibility for All:

- Respondents frequently mention the need for ADA-compliant infrastructure, including paths, benches, restrooms, and shaded areas for those with disabilities.
- For example, Hannah Park and Clinch Park are mentioned as needing improved access for wheelchairs and other mobility devices, with suggestions to resurface pathways and add ADAcompliant mulch or pavers.
- Additionally, some parks like the Open Space are noted for lacking enough seating and shade structures, which make the area less accessible to those sensitive to the sun or people with mobility challenges.

7. Public Amenities:

- Suggestions include adding more public restrooms, especially in parks like Bryant Park, East Bay Park, and Grace MacDonald Park.
- Some respondents propose the addition of waterless vault toilets in large parks where bathrooms are sparse or outdated.
- More trash cans and dog waste stations are also requested to improve the cleanliness of parks and make them more pleasant for both visitors and residents.

8. Environmental Considerations:

- Several respondents call for greener parks, with a focus on native plants, pollinator gardens, and wildlife habitats to enhance biodiversity.
- There is also a push for parks to adopt sustainable practices such as composting, rainwater harvesting, and naturalized landscaping.

9. Winter and Seasonal Activities:

- For winter, there is a desire for more ice rinks, particularly in high-traffic areas like Bryant Park, with some suggesting the creation of covered or man-made rinks to ensure year-round use, even in milder winters.
- Several respondents also suggested the creation of sledding hills or improved winter sports facilities at parks like Hickory Hills.

10. Specific Park Enhancements:

- Hickory Hills is mentioned for additional summer activities, such as mountain biking trails, expanded disc golf, and sledding hills for winter.
- Bryant Park is noted for needing parking lot redesign, landscape leveling, and retaining walls along the beach to reduce erosion and improve access.
- Sunset Park is also mentioned for the need to update playground equipment, increase seating, and add more shade and benches.

Conclusion:
Overall, the survey results reflect a desire for park maintenance, updated amenities, and improved accessibility for all residents, especially those with mobility challenges. There is a clear interest in making Traverse City's parks more inclusive, safe, and functional for a variety of recreational activities, from playgrounds and pickleball courts to beach access and winter sports. Addressing issues like cracked pickleball courts, beach erosion, and safety for pedestrians and cyclists would go a long way in enhancing the community's park experience.

It would be nice to indicate where the skating rinks are on the City's Park Locator Interactive Map. The rink at Thirlby Field is so exposed and uninviting. An idea to visually and psychologically soften the area in the winter

Parks exist to honor the land not to increase economic development.
How are you getting consent from the Earth to develop these parks? This is a serious question especially since you do a land acknowledgment at the beginning of all your city commission meetings.
Less public art, especially if it's horrible and boring murals or statues. Consult with real artists who have advanced degrees and stature in the arts community. That mural of people at the beach on the bathroom city. Besides acting on opportunities to expand the public water front and Brown Bridge, there should be no more consideration for establishing any new parks. We have 32 million n a city that is 8.6 sq miles, which is a lot. Let's focus our staffing and financial capacities on improving existing parks to better serve the needs of our community. This includes the acknowledgement that urban parks serve a different purpose and have a different design than a rural nature preserve. Our urban parks aren't natural areas, they are purposeful and provide a myriad of benefits to their visitors. Let's then focus on improving connections between parks in the park network, and programming to offer more options for interacting with the park and other people. Create the opportunity for stronger social connections.	5 - Includes Fernwood Neighborh surely someone expertise could come up with something. I also think thoughtful placement of stationary picnic tables near grills would be a good idea. People move the local park tables to the oddest places and they are difficult to move . They also drag the memorial benches off their platforms. It would be nice if grounds crew moved tables and benches back. Another suggestion is to ask the grounds keepers to pick up trash and debris before mowing. I have personally watched them mow right over paper, plastic and small branches leaving smaller pieces of debris. It's also hard on city owned equipment.	11Includes_Base_of_Old_Missi

I would like to see park trails in wetlands and riparian areas improved and or abandoned if the location is too difficult to properly maintain. The women's trail at Veterans Memorial park frequently floods and people create makeshift boardwalks, especially around kids creek. The men's trail at GTCommons feels unsafe and unwelcoming because of unhoused/homeless use of the area. Also, we should stop referring to is as "The Pines" because they are norway SPRUCE trees. I'm glad that mowing the west end of hannah park has been discontinued but would like to see even better riparian/wetland management there. Wetland/Riparian improvements I would like to see are a commitment to maintaining some green lawn space while abandoning some mowed area and adding more plantings of native trees/shrubs/forbs.	4Includes_Central_Neighborho native plant gardens and bird-watching stations.

-Art Installations: Incorporate public art installations, murals, or sculptures.
-Seasonal Activities: Develop seasonal programming, such as winter sports areas (ice skating, sledding) and

The Slabtown Park Pickleball courts are the only city Pickleball Courts (all others in the area are county or township park courts). During the spring, summer and fall (sometimes winter, too!) there can be 100 or more people that will play at some point during the day. People who come to Traverse City and ask where can they find open play, they are most often told to go see the "Friendly Group" at the dog park. We currently have a group app with almost 500 people that are made up of locals and regular tourists who enjoy the beautiful TC area and pickleball at these courts. It is sad that the most used courts in the city are also the courts in the worst shape. 4 out of the 6 pickleball courts are dangerous to play on due to the deep cracks and uneven surfaces. The two tennis at the park are rarely used for tennis so if these were somehow be converted into just pickleball and some extra parking spaces it would make better use of the park.

Re do the dog park courts, they are dangerous to play on. Traverse City is better than that. I live_outside_the_City_limits I would like to see the slabtown/dog park pickleball courts resurfaced. They are in such poor condition and people are going to get seriously injured. It's sad that these courts are in such poor condition given the hundreds of people that use them daily during the warmer months. Definitely need more pickleball courts. Hopefully you can resurface the dog park! The Dog park Pickleball courts are in dire need of redoing. They are very popular and used by many. The City Parks are in great shape, with a nice variety of recreation opportunities and more natural spaces. In general, I prefer soft shorelines along lakes and rivers to boardwalks and other man-made things. So, good access to and within the interior of parks for people of all abilities, but convert some lawns and heavily altered spaces to more natural ones, especially around the edges of parks and most especially along shorelines. Beyond that, I think a variety of placemaking approaches - bench here, pergola there, play structure over there - is better than sameness across the park system. Overall, keep up the good work!	4Includes_Central_Neighborho only one tennis is used at any time, the 6 pickleball courts are used everyday in the morning with need of being expanded and resurfaced. This is a great place for exercise for all ages but is quit busy from 9 am to 1

It would be nice to some distance between the dog park and the pickleball courts because the dogs like to

This of course is my suggestions for a park that I and many others frequent use.

The dog park pickleball courts are in bad shape. The cracks are so large someone is going to fall. I bet they would have a good case to sue the city due to lack of maintenance. There are at least 100 locals using the courts daily. There are also many tourist that use the park. It is the best place to play in town because the people there welcome anyone to play. They could remove the tennis courts and add more pickleball courts since the place is always overcrowded. There are many many more tennis courts in town that are never used.

This is the most used park in town. Brown bridge money is desperately needed to fix this park. Local neighborhood sledding hill. Not lift assisted. Not interested in a lift assist or organized tubing operation that requires staffing. The sledding hill to be located, somewhere in or around Hickory Hills, but not requiring Hickory Hills to operate. Just a simple neighborhood hill that can be used to sled on, roll down the grass in the summer. We are in the Slabtown neighborhood, so Hickory Hills would provide a nice location for a natural - clear hill for sledding and summer fun too. improve safety and walkability in the area with a "promenade" along East Bay Shore Rd. Currently, people

The pickleball and tennis courts at Slabtown Corner/Dog Park are heavily used (and also used year round), and in need of repair. The courts are cracked and becoming a liability. City residents and pickleball organizations have put their money into this park site, even purchasing windscreens to benefit playing. The courts need to be redone, better/functional lighting needs to be added, possibly utilizing solar energy. It would also be helpful to have a shaded refuge for sun/weather protection. It was helpful to have bike racks installed this summer. The church often uses the public parking spaces alongside the courts - this should not be happening if they won't share their parking. People using the new condos and stores on Randolf Street are also using the spaces for the public parking, limiting spaces.	4Includes_Central_Neighborho

My suggestions are regarding the Slabtown corner park, specifically the pickleball and tennis courts. The pickleball courts are used by hundreds of people every week, both locals and out-of-towners. The tennis courts are seldom used for tennis. The pickleball courts have many cracks and uneven surfaces. This affects the play of the game but more importantly, is dangerous, creating the potential for injuries from trips and falls. Also, there is not ample parking for the volume of people using the courts. There are limited parking spaces available for pickleball players and people using the dog park. In addition, the city began issuing tickets for parking on the non-curbed streets and cars will be towed if parked in the church parking lot.
The city needs to re-do the existing courts to make them safe and playable. The tennis courts could be converted to a couple more pickleball courts and additional parking. Traverse City should have a pickleball venue of which it can be proud.	I_live_outside_the_City_limits

Bryant Park: Sorely needs parking lot redesign, lot fencing repairs, retaining wall along sand grass line, and landscape leveling.
Clinch Park: Reduce and simplify (remove rain arch) the splash pad so it is affordable to run on city water. This would largely decrease operation and maintenance costs and remove the need to be consistently supervised.	I_live_outside_the_City_limits
I would highly recommend adding some more pickle ball courts and resurfacing the existing PB courts at the corner of Division and Bay streets The existing 2 tennis courts get very little use for tennis but are used more as over flow for PB. The 6 courts for PB have developed several cracks that make them dangerous. If you have had the opportunity to visit the courts you will see they are very popular and players are backed up waiting to play. The 2 tennis courts could be converted to 6 PB courts to accommodate more players and reduce wait times. I live just outside of the city limits but I am still in the TCAPs schools and have Traverse city mailing address so these PB courts are very convenient for me. Thanks for considering these recommendations. Bruce

A strategic acquisition of land in the Fernwood neighborhood with the goal of providing a neighborhood park would be an amazing asset in the Fernwood neighborhood. I think utilizing green infrastructure in the construction of in vital. It would be helpful to think of the entire city landscape as the parks system and implement more beautification opportunities. Roadside bioswales and native flowers could drastically increase the pollinator habitat and create "pollinator highways" throughout the city. This could all be constructed in the ROW of the road. Pocket parks and public art installments create a sense of place and we need way more of that in our community. I think that Rotary Square should be the permanent location for the Sara Hardy Farmers Market and should be planned as such. A park that facilitates the market but also is used for other activities and can stand alone as a park space when not activated. Utilize 100% native species in

As a responsible dog owner, I think signs reminding animal owners to please leash pets. I think it's a law could cite? (: Also we appreciate any time there are waste bags and receptacles.
Workout stations including guides for newcomers would be great! I think already planned at Civic Center?
Enough lighting for safety.
Enough receptacles to encourage responsible disposal of trash (if existing bins are full, people may default to weak human nature and litter).
Thank you for your work!

-The part of West End Beach WEST of Division Street is sorely neglected. It's a great resource for slabtown and should be enhanced & repaired, including parking
-Improve TART in Town E-W routes (6th, 10th streets) with protected bike lanes and decent pavement and access (not clear what riders are expected to do relative to Division Street)
- It would be worth paving the extension of Elmwood Ave through the GT commons area south untill it meets the E-W trail leading to Division Street. This would improve bike access from Slabtown to the Mall trail along Division street and many stores
-Additional parking at Senior center and west end beaches
- Don't require paying meters at beaches during the winter

We have an excellent park system, but I wish:
1.) There were more recreation type programs run by the city. Compared to other communities we are lacking.
2.) I recognize it is likely a funding issue, but I wish we could keep our parks in better shape in terms of up keep.	6Includes_Old_Towne_Neighbor

I would love to see improved signage, education and/or enforcement of dogs in beach parks. I am a frequent visitor to west end beach opposite Oak St. Many people bring leashed and unleashed dogs to that beach in all seasons in full view of the sign that says "no dogs on the beach." I usually don't mind, especially if dogs are leashed and owners clean up after them. I was swimming in the bay this past summer, however, when a man walking his unleashed dog along the waterline watched his dog defecate and did not pick it up. It was disgusting. I pay attention to the E. coli and water quality reports before swimming and am disappointed that selfish people breaking the law like this may endanger our ability to swim safely in the bay.
I also witnessed an attack by unleashed dogs along the Boardman lake trail. I know the city has higher law enforcement concerns but perhaps education and signage might help.	4 Includes Central Neighborho

I love our parks. We're so lucky to have them! I would love to see a park that's friendly for off- leash dogs. Of course I know about the dog parks, but those are filled with opinionated old white men who can't imagine that somebody else knows how to raise a dog similar to one that they once raised, and also, some dogs want to run really really far for a tennis ball. My dog gets big zoomies. BIG ones. She'd love to haul ass across F&M but she's a rule follower. On occasion, she's gotten to zoom around the Civic Center on a quiet afternoon, and that's really when she gets to live her best life.
But I also understand why it's not a thing, liabilities and all that- kids, dog fights, I get it.
but this understand with its not a trinig, has incles and an trial kids, dog lights, i get it.
How about we ban old white men from dog parks instead? There we go. A solution we can all live with!

Lay Park is used daily by residents walking dogs, residents walking to downtown jobs and winter tourist going to restaurants, businesses and bars to spend their money. And this entire winter the sidewalks through Lay Park have remained unplowed or shoveled. A dangerous snow and ice foot trampled path was developed. And is now hazardous with the freeze and thaw of water/ice. This is dangerous and shows a lack of maintenance to our out of town guests and especially our year round residents. I wonder how the rest of the parks' snow is handled? I would assume not much better than Lay Park. You monsters are analizing our parks. Much of what you have done recently is just absolutely disgusting. It seems like you hired an engineering firm to replace trees and natural space with concrete and plastic. The best thing you could do to help our parks is for you and your board to resign. There is just a stench to what you did the last few years. Improvements to Jupiter Gardens. Some kind of interesting and unique feature. Thanks for asking! We need better signage for telling people where other parks are The pickleball courts at the dog park are in dire need of a complete overhaul. First, the visual impact they have on the city and visitors COULD make such a wonderful impression, but currently the effect is the exact opposite: a huge eyesore. Second, the number of people (both residents and non) who would benefit from direct usage of the courts is significant. On any given day, the line of people waiting for courts during 'open play' In the morning is several courts deep. Unfortunately, given the current crumbling state of the courts, people are seeking-out different facilities, rather than risking injury on those compromised surfaces. Benches, I enjoy walking and need area's to rest more frequently than when I was younger. You need to do a better job at clearing the sidewalks of snow in the winter in your urban/downtown parks. Once a park is built or re-done, it is not taken care of like it should be. There are constantly weeds at Clinch Park & Marina, the stain on the cedar at Clinch is severely faded. Please take care of our parks. They are the showcase of our entire town. Flowers could be planted in the new medians on the parkway. Look at Charlevoix- it's a beautiful town.
