Scope of Services

The Consultant shall complete all soil borings and pavement coring in accordance with the following:

Proposed locations of soil borings and pavement core locations are shown on the attached plan and table.

The Consultant is responsible for locating utilities by calling MISS DIG (800-482-7171). The Consultant is also responsible for locating other utilities not on the MISS DIG system.

The consultant must perform field operations in accordance with MIOSHA regulations and accepted safety practices. The consultant must provide temporary traffic control per the MMUTCD. Work shall be performed in accordance with standard professional care.

Provide schedule in advance of work.

Soil Borings: Field stake proposed locations. Advance soil borings to a minimum of 2 feet below static groundwater elevation or 20 feet below surface elevation. Describe soils using the USCS visual-manual method.

Note moisture condition of soil as the boring is advanced as well as possible perched or groundwater seepage. Observe soil samples for mottling and note possible seasonal high groundwater elevations.

Backfill bore using extracted soils and supplement as needed with clean sand. Record all findings on a boring log.

Pavement Coring: Field stake offset locations or paint locations in street. The consultant is responsible for determining the final location of pavement cores using the attached plan and table as a guide. The final locations should be representative of the majority of the street and not placed in an obvious utility patch. Note that the alternating between drive lanes and centerline as shown on the maps shall be followed. Provide final location of core locations using the nearest street address and lane.

Core pavement using a portable core rig with a min. 6-inch barrel diameter. Direct push probes (Geoprobos) shall NOT be used. Record and describe pavement types, thicknesses, including sand bed layers between pavement structures including brick and record all thicknesses up to a maximum depth of 5 feet from the surface. Take photos of each pavement type with a tape measure for scale within the core sample and submit it with the report.

Core or use hand auger to determine aggregate base thickness and describe based on visual inspection (example: apparent standard road gravel or apparent gravel with many fines). Take picture of base material. A power drill may be used to loosen the base to assist with advancing a hand auger.

Use hand auger to continue advancing the core location to determine subbase materials to a minimum depth of 5 feet below the pavement elevation. Describe subbase materials using the USCS visual-manual method.

Upon completion of the advancing the core the consultant shall backfill the core hole with the excavated base material with compaction. Place materials and boring removals back to existing condition. Compaction of excavating layers using water method for sand, and tamping method for 3 feet to the surface for maximum compaction. The City generally understands that this work can not be tested to a percentage, but standard practices shall be used. The butt end of a shovel or equal with some water may be used for compaction. Consultant shall provide supplemental gravel as needed. Undamaged or solid cores may be used by the consultant as plugs for patching core holes. The top of the plug shall be $\frac{1}{4}$ " below the adjacent pavement. If the cores can't be used the consultant shall provide HMA cold patch or prepackaged hydraulic fast set patching material or a combination of each. Material and methods subject to approval by the City Engineer. Record all findings on a coring log.

If the Consultant is delayed in the completion of the work due to force majeure or otherwise, the time for completion may be extended for a period determined by the City in its sole discretion to be equivalent to the time of such delay. The City may terminate this Agreement if the delay lasts for more than 30 days. Upon termination by the City, the Consultant shall be entitled to the costs actually incurred in compliance with this Agreement less any costs incurred by the City as a result of the delay until the date of such termination, but not more than the maximum Agreement amount.
