

BROWN BRIDGE TRUST FUND

JULY 2025 SURVEY: 201 RESPONSES

The City conducted a community survey to assess challenges and priorities related to three major areas: access, facility improvements, and land acquisition for green space expansion. A survey in winter 2025 was also conducted and high level results were placed within this survey, so the data below is not encompassing that input.

1. Access to Parks

Respondents highlighted a variety of barriers that limit park accessibility, especially for pedestrians, cyclists, and individuals with limited mobility. Safety and connectivity were primary themes.

Key Concerns:

- Boardman Loop & Boardman Lake: Poor east-side access, limited trail continuity, and safety issues along pedestrian paths.
- Slabtown and Hickory Hills: Limited public transportation, steep terrain, and insufficient signage.
- Crosswalk Safety: Requests for safer crossings to parks near busy roads.

Most Cited Difficult-to-Access Parks:

- Boardman Lake
- Hickory Hills
- Slabtown-area parks
- Isolated neighborhood parks with limited street access or no sidewalks

2. Park Improvements

A strong majority of respondents (over 80%) shared specific ideas to improve infrastructure, facilities, and programming in both neighborhood and major parks.

Top Requested Features:

- Restrooms: More public restrooms downtown, at beaches, and in major parks
- Water Amenities: Splash pads, interactive fountains, and beach improvements
- Dog Facilities: Off-leash dog parks and dog-friendly beaches
- Sports & Recreation: Pickleball courts, basketball courts, shaded seating areas
- Family & ADA Access: Inclusive play structures, stroller-friendly trails, shaded picnic areas

Parks Most Frequently Mentioned for Improvements:

Park	Mentions	Common Suggestions
Hickory Hills	27	Trail upgrades, wayfinding signs, four-season access
Open Space	16	Additional restrooms, shade, crowd control
Hull Park	13	Boardman Lake Trail access, seating, lighting
Slabtown Parks	10	Safer crossings, better signage, dog access
Boardman Lake	7	Improved trail connections, east-side parking

3. Land Acquisition & Green Space Equity

Nearly 3 in 4 respondents believe some areas of the city are underserved by public green space. Encouragingly, 91% support the creation or expansion of parks in those neighborhoods.

Underserved Neighborhoods Identified:

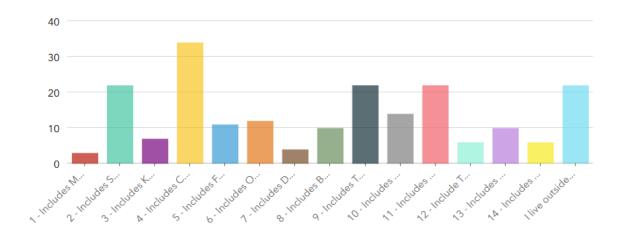

- Traverse Heights
- Central Neighborhood
- Boardman Neighborhood
- Some parts of Indian Woods and neighborhoods lacking walkable access to parks

Suggestions for Green Space Development:

Use vacant or underutilized lots for pocket parks

 Integrate gre 	een space into school	or community cent	er grounds
 Ensure new 	parks have trails, tre	es. and flexible-use	zones

I am concerned about the plan to "improve" the riverbank downtown in partnership with a private developer. Just because that property does not have improvements for human use does not mean that it has no value. I would be concerned about the habitat loss if that gets developed. I have seen river otters and other wildlife in that area. If we harden all of the riverbank and remove native vegetation (I know there are invasive species there but it's better than a bed of mulch with a few landscaped plants), where will all the animals live?! Better basketball hoops, don't like double rimmed basketball hoops	Shade trees Bathroom access and	Yes	I am concerned about the trend towards increased development of existing private lots. More building footprint means fewer trees and green spaces. Some neighborhoods like Central have private properties with trees and yards serving a public benefit like mini parks even if you only get to enjoy the shade from the public sidewalk. If all of those lots got developed with increased footprint of structures, we would need public land to fill that need. Not sure there is opportunity in central but there is a corner lot for sale at 10th and Pine. Would make a great pocket park. We've lived here since November and have greatly enjoyed getting to know Traverse City's parks. Regarding the "What We've Heard Priorities," any improvement to lighting should consider using lighting techniques that minimize unnecessary light pollution. In particular, Hickory Hills is a wonderful place for star gazing on clear nights. If lighting is to be added, please consider adding only minimal "dark-sky" approved lighting to it		Rotary Park seems like a blank-slate "diamond-in-the-rough" that might be transformed in any number of ways.
